Property Description

Would you be happier if you owned a comfortable, zero-hassle condo close to some of Costa Rica's best beaches and surf? This condo is nestled along the Pacific coast in an area that is dotted with some of the country's best waves - Playa Negra, Avellanas and Marbella are all within easy drives, and the beaches in between are filled with little-known breaks that locals love to keep secret. The condo is located on the second floor of a mixed commercial and residential center called Plaza Tierra Pacifica, so owners have a supermarket and excellent restaurants just downstairs. Plaza TP is situated in Playa Junquillal, an idyllic coastal community with extraordinary infrastructure - a paved highway ends just a mile from the center and the area has one of the best water resources in the region. The loft's high, vaulted ceiling and large windows make the space airy, open and light. Its fixtures and finishing touches are high-end, with local hardwoods used for the custom cabinetry, ceilings and the flooring in the loft.
