Property Description

Dominical's most desirable section is the west facing mountain sides, overlooking the azure Pacific Ocean with vibrant jungle and breezy elevations - Escaleras. Reserva Santa Fe represents perhaps the last true, large pristine parcel remaining available in this area where estate homes and boutique hotels have dotted the landscape. The approx 64 acre parcels has everything a buyer would hope to find: easy, all weather access, real privacy, multiple building areas, ABUNDANT potable water (private well), internal infrastructure (roads, electric and water), high valued neighbors, a one-of-a-kind caretaker, magical forest, and DRAMATIC ocean, coastal and rock island views. Just 5 mins up the mountain side from the paved coastal highway, the property has a low profile entrance which gently leads through bamboo groves, and over (bridged) streams to the heart of the parcel. On the lower elevation side is a well established caretaker's residence, talapia ponds, fruit trees and a work shop which go down to boarder a year-round creek.
