Property Description

Nestled in a lush jungle forest reserve near the core of Dominical, this private mountain top retreat has breathtaking views of the dynamic coastal region that lines this sleepy South Pacific region of Costa Rica. The drive to this home takes you through quaint and well-maintained dirt roads, sending you on an adventure away from the typical road traffic to which you are likely accustomed if you are from any city around the world. Driving past your neighbors elicits kind waves and smiles, making you feel like you are part of a community. 10 acres of primary rainforest reserve surrounds the property, and wildlife is prevalent due to being protected by the thick jungle canopy, below which have been carved incredible walking paths. You will see and hear monkeys, tropical and migratory birds, and so much more. This is nature's playground at your doorstep. The seashell-shaped pool and terrace are covered with layered tarps, offering gradient shade in this year-round sunny environment.
